Quick, easy, and user friendly. After selecting an item to be used as a template, simply press the keyboard's "Ctrl" key and Macro 1 will be pre-selected as the template. When you type the numbers 1 to 9, the right command will be pre-selected in sequence. NOTE: You can set any key as a Template. When you set up your new keyboard, you can set the template key and the Keyboard Director for the template key. Although this key is automatically changed to the selected command as soon as you press it, if you want to use a different command, you will have to set the keyboard director for the template key again. AUTOPREFIX Description: Macro's AutoPrefix allows you to quickly edit text using only one key. E.g. Type "a+3" (pressing the "+" key and then the "3" key) to add a space between two words. You can create a list of commands, and use them to generate all possible combinations of characters. If you are lazy, AutoPrefix will work without any problems at all. For example, AutoPrefix will add a space between "A" and "H", "U" and "I", "I" and "R". You can save the AutoPrefix function in your key and save it in the Keyboard Director. Every time you set up a new keyboard, you can load it by clicking the "Autoprefix" button and entering the commands you want to use. AutoPrefix has been designed to allow the shortest sequences of operations, so you will always be able to quickly and easily type the text you want. Quickly and easily adding spaces between any two characters, between the start and end of a text, and between a text and a punctuation mark. For example, you can type a plus sign, which will automatically add a space before and after it. You can add a space between the start and the end of the text, and even between a text and a punctuation mark. For example, you can type "a+" and the space and "3" key will be added automatically to the text. HEXADECIMAL Description: Shortcuts for numbers and characters.
