The Honorable Frank M. Johnson Federal Communications Commission 445 12th Street, S.W. Washington, D.C. 20554 Dear Congressman Johnson: This is with regard to the Free Radio Fan Campaign, which seeks to generate public support for the Federal Communications Commission's plan to open low power radio to the general public. As you know, the Commission last year adopted rules to open nearly one-third of the radio spectrum to such use. These rules made no change in the long-established, highly-regulated, cooperative licensing program. However, the FCC continues to grapple with the problem of getting this program off the ground. Last year, we formed the Free Radio Fan Campaign to support the FCC's effort to open the radio spectrum to free use. We also worked with Free Press Radio, a national organization of radio stations which was instrumental in developing the FCC's current rules. Free Press Radio has continued its important work, this year publishing "Free Radio Fans 101." Since its publication, Free Press Radio has received over 15,000 copies. The campaign has begun to pay off. With your help, we have been able to generate much needed publicity, and thousands of Americans have written letters to the Commission on the topic. The FCC is expected to open the stations in December. We urge your continued support of the Free Radio Fan Campaign in order to ensure that the FCC hears the American public's desire for free radio. Sincerely, The Campaign for Community Radio cc: The Honorable Susan Ness, Chairman Richard J. Young, Commissioner, Media Bureau

Dear Chairman Ness: I am writing to you in support of the Federal Communications Commission's plan to open nearly one-third of the radio spectrum to the public. Recently, the Free Radio Fan Campaign was formed to support the FCC's effort to open the radio spectrum. This campaign has quickly received broad support from thousands of Americans. The Free Radio Fan Campaign began public education efforts and has produced public education materials such as "Free Radio Fans 101." The campaign has also begun a grassroots effort with radio stations throughout the country. Our goal is to increase the national demand for free radio. We hope that you will also support the Free Radio Fan Campaign. cc: The Honorable Kevin Martin, Commissioner, Media Bureau May the year of the Fan be filled with community f3e1b3768c
